The Harvard Outreach Program of the HARVARD CLUB OF HUNGARY

The outreach program Back to Your School! encourages members of the Harvard Club of Hungary to go back to their schools, where they were once a student, to talk to young people about themselves, about their life and success as well as their education at Harvard University.

Today, high school students not only are stressed about which universities to study and where to go, they also worry about finding jobs once they graduate. We all realize how important it is for high school students to have positive role models in their lives. Years ago, we were in the exact same spot they are in now. We come from high schools, in which they are learning now.

Let's talk about our own life-path, about our education, scholarships, the importance of doing well in the high school and the availability of financial assistance. Let's provide Hungarian high school students with a personal view of life and study at Harvard University.

With this, we all can contribute to the major purposes of our Club: to convey the Harvard spirit, to be a good ambassador of Harvard University in Hungary; to serve the community and to provide information and inspiration for motivated and skilled Hungarian teenagers on our University.

The project is not only meant to give students a unique chance to better understand how an American university operates, but more importantly, to motivate them. The message we can bring is that careers are not far-fetched, regardless of circumstance. We did it. They can do it, too.

“Education is not the filling of a pail, but the lighting of a fire.” William Butler Yeats
